

Australian Society of Agronomy Inc. Young Agronomist Award

The Australian Society of Agronomy Inc. offers the Young Agronomist Award to recognise excellence in research and/or the application of science related to agronomy to an agronomist aged under 36 years.

The award is made on the basis of the young agronomist's contribution to either research, teaching and education, their publication record and relevance of other communications to both the scientific and non-scientific community and previous recognition and awards such as invited papers at conferences and travel awards.

Young Agronomist Award Winners

2015: Ms Louise Flohr (AgriLink Ag Cons	Mr Rohan Brill (NSW DPI)
2012: Ms Loretta Serafin	Dr James Hunt
2010: Lindsay Bell (CSIRO Toowoomba)	Graeme Doole (University of WA)
2008: Jason Brand (DPI, Victoria)	Barry Haskins (I&I, NSW)
2006: Andrew Whitlock (DPI, Victoria)	